

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The invention is a notepad incorporating a device for transmitting handwritten notes via email. As part of the system, certain hardware and software are built in the notepad to cause emailed notes to be routed through a server thus building up a userbase. Several specific, automated actions are taken on the note which is beneficial to the sender, the manufacturer, and vendors.

2009022315001